Join Missouri S&T and Dr. Sean Siebert as they discuss entrepreneurship, education, and economic development. During the session, Dr. Siebert educates his audience on the value of understanding the concept that entrepreneurship is a mindset, not an occupation. Dr. Siebert also shares his methodology and approach to entrepreneurship, and provides a strategic line of questioning that will enable you, your organization, or your community, to utilize the process of innovation for growth, improvement, and betterment.

Dr. Sean Siebert’s breadth of knowledge and experience, combined with his story-telling ability, make him a much-sought-after speaker, panelist, and consultant. Dr. Siebert has given many lectures and presentations regarding innovation and entrepreneurship, and he is a published author. His publications include: The Huffington Post, UP Global, The Wall Street Journal Online, and the Missouri Department of Economic Development. Additionally, Siebert authors his own weekly publication, The Weekly Win, and he will be releasing his first book later this Fall.