Along with diet and exercise, sleep is a critical pillar of health. Americans are getting less sleep due to work, technology, and increasing rates of sleep disorders. Dr. Thimgan will talk about how sleep has changed over the last century, the impacts of sleep deprivation on cognitive performance and personal health, and sleep disorders that can disrupt sleep, as well as strategies that might improve one’s sleep.